Hallie Ford Museum of Art features “Cayla Skillin-Brauchle: Locating”

SALEM, Ore. — “Cayla Skillin-Brauchle: Locating,” focuses on recent works by Willamette University Assistant Professor Cayla Skillin-Brauchle (American, born 1984). The exhibition opens April 17 and continues through May 15 in the Atrium Gallery.

“Cayla Skillin-Brauchle: Locating” incorporates drawings, photographs, sculptures, repurposed materials, and textiles into a dynamic installation enhanced by two live performances.

“Locating” draws inspiration from data, geography, and an urgency to combat feelings of estrangement born out of our current social and political environment. “Locating” uses the metaphor of honing in on our personal coordinates as a strategy to find common ground and the exhibition explores this through a variety of expressive media.

This exhibition incorporates two complimentary performances of “Our Bodies Know the Way,” the newest collaboration between Cayla Skillin-Brauchle and Cal Lawton (WU Studio Art Alum, 2018). Props and costumes for this performance were created by Skillin-Brauchle and Lawton and will be on view for the duration of the exhibition. Performances commence on Saturday, April 17th starting at 2 p.m. and Saturday, April 24th starting at 2 p.m. They can be viewed in person (limited capacity) or via Livestream through links posted at willamette.edu/go/hfma-locating.

Skillin-Brauchle teaches drawing, installation art, social practice, and performance art and holds a BA degree from Beloit College in Wisconsin and an MFA degree from Ohio University in Athens and is currently an assistant professor of art at Willamette University. Her most recent awards include a 2019 Ford Family Foundation Fellowship at the Djerassi Resident Artists program where she created much of the work in her current exhibition.

Each spring, the Hallie Ford Museum of Art at Willamette University, pairs its annual senior art majors exhibition with a solo exhibition of recent work by one of the faculty members in the art department at Willamette University. The purpose of the exhibitions is to demonstrate the continuing connection and relationship between student and faculty research. The student exhibition, "Within and Without," will be on view in the Melvin Henderson-Rubio Gallery from April 18 - May 17, 2020.

Financial Support

Financial support for this exhibition has been provided by general operating support grants from the City of Salem's Transient Occupancy Tax funds and the Oregon Arts Commission.

About the Hallie Ford Museum of Art at Willamette University

As one of the finest academic art museums in the Northwest, the museum features works by Pacific Northwest and Native American artists, and includes a diverse collection of traditional European, American and Asian art, as well as artifacts that date from antiquity. Frequently changing exhibitions include lectures, special events, tours, artist demonstrations, educational opportunities for children and adults, as well as important publications.

The museum is located at 700 State St. in Salem. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. The galleries are closed on Sunday and Monday. Timed entry tickets are highly encouraged due to limited museum capacity and can be purchased online at www.willamette.edu/go/hfma. General admission is $6, $4 for seniors and $3 for students 18 and older. Students 17 and under and children are admitted free. Admission is free for everyone on Tuesdays, but timed entry tickets are still required.

PLEASE NOTE: Due to Covid-19 the museum's hours and guidelines may be subject to change as federal and state guidelines evolve. Please check the museum's website for the latest information at willamette.edu/go/hfma or call 503-370-6855
